HISTORY OF BARON EMPAIN PALACE

Baron Hotel Heliopolis, Cairo was named after Baron Empain Palace, better known as Le Palais Hindou (The Hindu Palace), which is a distinctive and historic Hindu temple inspired mansion in Heliopolis, a suburb northeast of central Cairo, Egypt. The palace was designed by French architect Alexandre Marcel and decorated by Georges-Louis Claude. Inspired by the Hindu temple of Angkor Wat in Cambodia, it was built between 1907 and 1911, in reinforced concrete. This palace was named "Baron Palace" in relation to its owner, Belgian millionaire Baron Édouard Louis Joseph Empain, who came to Egypt from India at the end of the 19th century, a few months after the opening of the Suez Canal. Empain built the palace in Egypt to be his place of residence. The breath-taking historical palace was built in the heart of Heliopolis, Cairo, specifically on Al-Oruba Street, on the main road to Cairo International Airport. The palace was designed so that all rooms and halls are exposed to the sun from all directions. The palace was built on a special concrete base which allows it to turn on an hourly basis. The Baron Palace is without a doubt one of the most luxurious palaces in Egypt and the world. In 2020, the historic Baron Palace in Cairo's Heliopolis district was officially inaugurated, after a two-year restoration period with the cost of around 15 million Euros, during which the Egyptian state harnessed all potentials to restore and develop the palace, after many years of neglect.
